 BEST ALL-ROUNDER Garmin Nuvi 310 £299.99. Stockists: 01794 5284671 www.garmin.com/uk Smart, silver bodied 2.8in display was the most straightforward to set up and found the satellite signal the fastest. Particularly good instructions with warning 'ding' so you know they are coming. Useful and well set-out 'travel kit menu' with language guide, MP3 player, calculator, picture viewer, currency converters and more.	BEST FOR EUROPEAN MAPPING Medion GoPal 515 £349.99. Stockists: 01793 715715/www.medionshop.co.uk This is a smart, lightweight unit which has a 3.5in screen, MP3 player and integrated Bluetooth facility. It also has UK, Ireland, Western and Eastern European mapping and what is described as "dynamic re-routing around congestion" which worked quite well but not as dynamically as suggested. 	BEST GIRLY LOOKS Mio H610 £300. Stockists: 09453 454245/www.mio-tech.be A pretty model with MP3 player, photo viewer and built-in games, the looks more like a pocket PC than a sat nav. However, it has good, clear mapping and pre-installed speed-camera warnings with free updates for one year. It is rather small and slightly fiddly with a 2.7in display, but the cute interchangeable bezel makes a change from the usual sober style.
BEST WIDESCREEN DISPLAY TomTom GO 910 £469. Stockists: 0945 161 0009/ www.tomtom.com/stores Easy-to-use top-end model has a good 4in widescreen display and can connect to an iPod, store music and photos and be used as a hands-free speaker kit via Bluetooth. Speaks street names but the text model got muddled. Flimsy windscreen mounting. 	BEST FOR SPEED CAMERA ALERTS Road Angel Navigator 6000 £249.99. Stockists: 01327 855 586/ www.blackpet.com Road Angel pioneered speed camera alerts and this neat model is a sophisticated system for warnings of cameras and accident hotspots. Good-sized with a 3.5in screen that conveniently displays warning messages at a glance and clear 'beeps'. The maps are clearly displayed. 	BEST SMART NAVIGATION Newman iCN 730 £399. Stockists: 01283 789500/www.newman.com An innovative model which features NeoPi, a clever technology with which you can navigate to a destination using a photo taken with the in-built camera. The snap – and its geographical position – is stored in an 'album' and when you want to revisit the location, you simply touch the photo on the screen and are guided there.
